Seven Board Members Named at Annual Meeting of Farm Bureau

Six Re-Elected; Wintzer for Cottage Township

Members attending the 39th annual meeting of the Saline County Farm Bureau, held yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of Harrisburg Junior high school, approved the yearly reports of Farm Bureau officials, named seven board members and heard an address by C. B. Sweet, assistant secretary of organization, Illinois Agricultural association.

There are 13 members on the board—one from each township—and the terms of seven are expiring. Re-elected were A. A. Gholson of Rector, A. J. Tison of Long Branch, A. A. Appel of Stonefort, Earl O'Keefe of Carrier Mills, John C. Small of Brushy and Ersel Vinyard of Mountain. Ben Wintzer was elected board member for Cottage township, where A. K. Gates is the retiring member.

Sweet Tells of Benefits

Holdover members are Orval Gribble of Independence, Eugene Lamkin of Harrisburg, Ewell Harris of Galatia, C. P. Brown of Eldorado, T. H. Weight of Tate and R. L. Morris of Raleigh.

Present officers are: Mr. Vinyard president, Mr. Gribble vice president, Mr. Small secretary and Mr. Lamkin treasurer.

The board will organize Jan. 12. Mr. Sweet told what the Farm Bureau has done and is doing for its members, both financially and in the way of influence.

Regarding the financial side, he said members get a return of at least $227.35 for each dollar put into the Farm Bureau.

He told of the increased farm yields due to the extension service, of the co-operative business services, and of the legislative action of the Farm Bureau in behalf of its members.

Declaring the Farm Bureau never has fallen for a subversive element as some other groups have done, he told of the influence the Farm Bureau organization has on other groups in being one of the pillars in our democracy.

Welcomed By Malan

President Vinyard presided at the meeting, which included the following parts of the program:

The group was welcomed by Russell Malan, superintendent of the Harrisburg Public Schools. Mr. Vinyard gave the president's report and minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Secretary Small.

Mrs. John C. Small told of the work of the women's organization of the Farm Bureau and Mr. Lamkin gave the treasurer's report.

After singing by little Gerald DeNeal, L. B. Kimmel gave the farm adviser's report, Raymond H. Vinyard gave the organization director's report, James W. Henderson gave the general agent's report and Gilbert Highlander, manager of the Twin County Service Co., spoke of his work.

E. Bishop Hill, district manager of Social Security, told of 1956 changes in Social Security laws applying to farmers.

After Mr. Sweet spoke, township caucuses were held to choose the seven directors.

Hill Discusses Social Security Changes For Farmers at Farm Bureau Meeting

E. Bishop Hill, district manager of Social Security, discussed Social Security measures at yesterday's annual meeting of the Saline County Farm Bureau.

He distributed pamphlets showing the changes as they affect farmers and said other farmers who wanted such a pamphlet could get one at his office in the Harrisburg National bank building, either by going to the office, calling by telephone or by writing.

Mr. Hill told farmers that if they are past 65 and file an application for Social Security benefits, they must first have an annual tax return filed and bring a copy of the return and proof of tax payment to the office with them.

He suggested payment be made by postal money order or bank draft, for proof of payment, as cancelled checks sometimes are very slow in getting back.

He must also bring proof of age and a birth certificate is not essential, he stated. A certified copy of an application for a marriage license or a family Bible with name and date of birth recorded are sufficient proof, he added.

If the wife is over 62, she should

Driver's License Exam Station to Close Saturday Until Dec. 26

The state driver's license examination station on South Main street will close from Saturday until Dec. 26 because of the Christmas holidays and the same schedule will be followed for New Year's, when the station will close from Saturday, Dec. 29, to Jan. 2, it was announced today by Arrell Wasson Jr., examiner.

Response for Hungarian Relief Slow

A report on contributions to the Red Cross Hungarian Relief Fund, made at the last meeting of the Saline County chapter, indicates that response has been very slow to date in the county.

Containers for contributions were placed in the six county banks, the Egyptian State bank at Carrier Mills, Burnett's bank and the First State bank at Eldorado, First National bank and Harrisburg National bank in Harrisburg, and Saline County State Bank at Stonefort, and for the first ten days of the drive contributions amounted to just $81. The county's quota is $703. Fund treasurer Richard Davent reported that some larger contributions were withheld because donors were uncertain of the procedure, and he explained that those wishing to make donations by check could mail the check to the Red Cross office in Harrisburg, or give their check to the cashier at any of the banks named.

It was hoped that the county's quota could be raised by voluntary contributions through this method, without the necessity of an organized fund drive.

John Murphy, county Junior Red Cross chairman, reported that 62 gift boxes had been filed by children from 13 schools in the county, and sent to Hungarian children, with some schools not reported yet.

accompany her husband to his office, he stated.

Last, he said, the person filing must return. That means, he says, that the farmer no longer operates the farm himself and that his annual net earning cannot be more than $1,200. After 72 years of age, it makes no difference what a person receives.

Regarding the change in the law which reduces from 65 to 62 the age that women can get benefits, Mr. Hill had this to say:

Wives of men 65 or over may now draw benefits at 62, but the benefit would be a reduced figure. Working women also may draw benefits at 62 on a reduced basis. On taking the reduced benefits at 62 instead of waiting until 65 to get the full benefits a wife would be ahead at least 12 years and a working woman at least 15 years, he stated. Mr. Hill emphasized that if benefits are started at 62, the reduction continues after 65.

The above facts, he said, do not apply to widows. He stated widows can begin drawing benefits at 62 with no reductions.

SEIEC Purchases Electric System At Rosiclare

Final papers were signed Wednesday making the Southeastern Illinois Electric Co-op owner of the electrical distributive system in Rosiclare, it has been announced by Tom Clevenger, manager of the SEIEC with headquarters in Eldorado.

Purchase price of the system was $40,000, Mr. Clevenger said.

The SEIEC will formally begin operation of the electric system in Rosiclare at noon Friday, Dec. 21.

Final details of the purchase were completed in the offices of the Rosiclare Lead and Spar Mining company Wednesday. Representing the SEIEC were George Aydelott, president of the board of directors; W. E. Hunt, secretary of the board, James Karber and S. D. Wise, SEIEC attorneys, and Mr. Clevenger. J. Blechstein, president of the Rosiclare Lead and Spar Co., and Percy Howard, chief electrical engineer, represented the company.

Action Wednesday was the climax of many months of negotiations to accomplish the purchase of the electrical system by SEIEC. Early this year the two parties agreed on terms of the purchase at the local level, but months were required to get all the details approved, by both the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington and high officials of the Rosiclare mining company, whose offices are in the east.

Work of remodeling the system started earlier this week. A part of the agreement was that the system be rehabilitated within a period of 18 months.

Special Holiday Plans for State Welfare Patients

SPRINGFIELD — Special Christmas holiday plans are being made for the 50,000 patients in Illinois public welfare institutions, Welfare Director Dr. Otto L. Bettag announced today.

Religious services will be held for patients of all faiths in the institutions and many religious groups are planning special visits to the institutions, Bettag said. Motion pictures, dances, concerts and sports events also are being arranged for holiday entertainment programs.

Turkey with all the trimmings will be on the menu of all institutions for Christmas dinner, with baked ham for New Year's Day, Bettag said.

He urged that friends and relatives of patients plan visits to them during the holiday season.

Board of Review Session Upheld By Supervisors

Vote Resolution Not to Penalize Members of Group

The Saline County Board of Supervisors, by an overwhelming vote, this morning upheld the 1954 county board of review in its action of remaining in session over the statutory limit.

The board, with 16 voting approval, one voting no and two voting present, passed a motion offered by Virgil Ferrell which said that the board should not be penalized for staying in session, that if anybody erred it was the county board in giving permission.

The September circuit court grand jury, which indicted County Clerk Don B. Garrison on embezzlement charges, listed some recommendations to the county board, one recommending that the board seek to collect the pay received by the three board of review members that they received for work done past the time for adjournment.

William Alfred Smith, only person present who was on the 1954 board of review and who was one of the two voting "present" on the motion, stated that at the time of the extension of time voted by the board and of the transfer of funds by the board to take care of the added pay, he had been informed the state department of revenue was approving the extension. He said he wanted the county board to take a vote on the matter to clear things up.

Road Funds Approved

Regarding other recommendations, Kenneth Jackson said that the board in the spring had passed a resolution that all county employees present salary claims for their pay. He said that as to any county board members receiving more than one day's pay for one day's work, he didn't believe any had ever knowingly done so.

Another recommendation, that all members get a copy of the annual audit, was put into effect with the last audit and a motion is on the record regarding the matter, he pointed out.

Another recommendation was that records of payment of money in the county clerk's office be kept under lock and key. It was decided that this be investigated by a committee.

Earlier, road resolutions were passed calling for the expenditure of county motor fuel tax funds to building a road east from Dewey street in Eldorado and for part of the road from Carrier Mills south to Route 145 in Independence township. County road maintenance funds also were approved. They totaled $41,000.

Offer 1,000 Acres in Pope-Hardin Area; Tract Proposed Near Shetlerville

Southern Illinois, western Kentucky, northwestern Tennessee and eastern Missouri areas are all making battles to secure the proposed new federal prison which officials say will be placed in one of these areas and it was learned that one of the proposals submitted was by J. D. Barter and H. H. Barter of Harrisburg.

The Barthers have submitted to the Bureau of Prisons a proposal on approximately 1,000 acres of land in Pope and Hardin counties about 17 miles south of Harrisburg. Illinois Route 34 goes through the middle of the acreage and to the west of this tract are thousands of acres of U. S. Government land.

Big Grand Pierre creek and Hicks Branch run through this acreage, which the Barthers either own or have under option.

Resolution By Council

The proposal turned in by the Barthers reveals that important highways connect with Route 34 at close points, that there are commercial airports at Harrisburg, Marion-Herrin and Paducah, that Southeastern Illinois Electric cooperative utilities are available. Fuel and water also are available in large quantities.

The Harrisburg City Council last Tuesday passed a resolution urging the location of this prison in the immediate area. The land in the Barter proposal is in Sections 22 and 27 of Grand Pierre township in Pope county and Sections 24 and 28 in Monroe township in Hardin county.

Today is the last day for proposals to be submitted — after which inspections will be made — and among those also submitted is a 2,500-acre tract near Shetlerville, which is down by the Ohio river on the Hardin-Pope county border. Rosiclare, Elizabethtown and Golconda are pushing for this site.

Large Payroll

The new prison has been in the planning stage more than two years and congress is expected to approve an initial appropriation for the prison next year. It is expected to have an estimated million dollar payroll and a $1,750,000 annual operating budget; so plenty of places are interested.

An Illinois delegation went to Washington Wednesday to confer with Bureau officials about a tract west of Litchfield 50 miles north-east of St. Louis.

Strong bids also have been made by Paducah, Ky. and Marion, Centralia, Mt. Vernon and Salem in Illinois.

Paducah is seeking the prison to be located on ground formerly occupied by a government TNT plant in western McCracken county. Kentucky U. S. Senators Sherman Cooper and Thurston Morton are working hard to get the prison in western Kentucky.

Reports are that from 600 to 1,500 acres of ground will be needed.

Davis Trial To Carmi

Judge Eovaldi Declares Mis-Trial In Hardin County Circuit Court

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. (U.P.) — Efforts to obtain a jury in the case of a mother and daughter accused of murder ended Wednesday night when Circuit Judge R. W. Eovaldi declared a mis-trial.

Eovaldi also granted a defense motion for a change of venue to White County over the objection of State's Atty. James G. Gullett. He said it was "impossible" to impanel a jury to try the case here in Hardin County court, commenting that eight impaneled jurors had asked to be released because of complete exhaustion.

Gullett objected to the change of venue in the case because two defense attorneys, Ivan Elliott Sr. and his son, Ivan Elliott Jr., are residents of Carmi.

He said he would ask the case be tried in the May term of White County Circuit court.

Mrs. June Davis and her daughter, Betty Ann, 18, were accused in the death of Betty Joiner, 19, Hartford, Conn., Miss Davis' love rival, near Cave-in-Rock, Ill., July 1, 1955.

Near the end of pre-trial sessions Wednesday only 8 jurors had been seated from a total of 272 veniremen examined. The seating of the jury was complicated by the fact that many of those called were related in some way to the defendants.

Addressing the jury, Eovaldi said many of the prospective jurors "had shirked their duties" and were "too eager" to avoid jury duty.

Miss Joiner died on Ill. 1 a mile north of Cave-in-Rock after accepting an automobile ride from Glen Elwood McDowell of Cave-in-Rock. Miss Davis said she and McDowell were engaged.

The Davises allegedly forced McDowell's car off the road and pulled Miss Joiner from the car. She reportedly ran screaming down the highway, collapsed and was struck by a southbound car.

IAA Official Praises Malan's Remarks, Help Of School Children

TIMOTHEUS WENT to the Harrisburg Junior high school yesterday afternoon to cover the annual Farm Bureau meeting, and I couldn't help but note a few things in this column.

In the first place, Superintendent Russell Malan in opening remarks said the farm people were welcome to use the big new school auditorium any time they choose.

He pointed out that the Farm Bureau was helping to dedicate the new auditorium as it was the first community group to use it.

C. B. Sweet, Illinois Agricultural association official who came down from Chicago to deliver the main address, was high in his compliments of Mr. Malan's remarks and of the decorum and the willingness to help of the Junior high school pupils.

He said he was especially impressed with Mr. Malan's remark that agriculture is an important part of the nation, that without a healthy agriculture, nations do not exist for long.

Then he turned to the school children themselves. He said it was really something—the way the pupils were eager to help a stranger. As he arrived at the school, he stated, he was asked by a pleasant voice of a pupil if he desired assistance in getting to the auditorium.

He needed help, he said, and he got it willingly. It most certainly made an impression on him, he stated in his address.

Mr. Sweet in his address gave ten points which he said cost so little yet are worth so much, and I'll relate them to you right here:

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

(Written for NEA Service)

There are hiding places all over the house where gifts are shielded from the curious eyes of children of all ages. We want to surprise people with the presents which we are giving. There is an element of suspense in Christmas which makes the climax more impressive.

The coming of Christ was filled with suspense. The world was waiting for a Savior. Anticipation ran high. Prophecy was about to be fulfilled. Yet no one knew where Jesus was to be born.

When the advent really took place there was less fanfare than the political world expected. The legalists and the materialists were not sure that Christ had been born.

The materialists of today get little out of Christmas except a "let-down" after the presents have been given. The followers of Christ find a continuing spirit of hope and faith following Christmas.

icy making body of the United

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on a Christmas tour of our Far Northern bases. During his absence, the column is being written by his junior partner. Today Mr.
Pearson, who has given the brass ring to many others, gets a free ride on his own Washington-Merry-Go-Round.)

JACK ANDERSON Says:
Pearson's "Big Secret" Revealed; Drew Persuaded Yugo-slavs To Release Cardinal; Hagerty Apologized Twice To Pearson.

WASHINGTON. — Drew Pearson, who digs into the secret lives of others, has kept his own secret from the public. His fans would never suspect from his hard-hitting column, his angry voice on radio, his fights with Washington officialdom, that he is secretly a softie.

He's the kind of softie who'll be embarrassed over this column, yet softie enough not to fire me for writing it.

Drew usually ends up feeling sorry for those he exposes. His stories helped convict tax-fixer Henry Grunwald; but he started writing sympathetic stories after a fearful appeal from Grunwald's daughter. Drew also helped send influence-peddler John Maragon to jail, then wrote a letter in his behalf to the parole board and helped get him a job after his release.

Once Drew revealed that a Pentagon employee, Charles Dillon, secretly recorded a conversation with NBC Executive Frank McCall. The Defense Department decided to fire Dillon for his bad manners. Drew anxiously phoned then-Deputy Secretary Steve Early and talked him out of such drastic punishment.

STEPINAC DEAL
Only a few intimates know how Drew got Cardinal Stepinac out of a Yugoslav jail. Drew persuaded the Yugoslav ambassador here that freeing Stepinac would improve American-Yugoslav relations. In return for the Cardinal's release, Drew offered to print any statement Marshall Tito cared to make.

Upon the ambassador's recommendation, Tito accepted the deal and let Stepinac go. The Yugo-slav leader explained his action in a letter that Drew duly published. It was so lengthy, however, that several newspapers cut it. Result: Tito raised Cain, accused Drew of bad faith.

Drew tried to make the same deal with the Czechoslovakian ambassador for AP correspondent Bill Oatis's freedom, but the Czech government finally turned it down. Neither Oatis nor the AP ever knew what Drew tried to do.

Most people have also forgotten how Drew discovered the man who drugged Cardinal Mindszenty, Dr.
Emil Weil, serving right here in Washington as Hungarian minister. Dr. Weil had helped torture Mindszenty by administering a drug during his Budapest trial.
Drew promptly made it so hot for Weil that he was recalled.

Drew has been beaten by as many brickbats as he has hurled.
Perhaps because of his Quaker upbringing, he has a remarkable ability to shrug off abuse and turn the other cheek.

RETORT TO WINCHELL

Walter Winchell recently printed a wild, vicious attack on Drew.
Friends urged him to sue for libel, or at least to slash back.
Drew's reply over the microphone was characteristic: "Many years ago Walter did a lot of helpful things for me, and I'd rather remember those things than his more recent 'orchids.' My only answer is to suggest that you tune in on his new TV program Friday night. Give his rating a boost."

Drew may be a softie, but don't get the idea he lacks guts. During the 1952 campaign word leaked to vice presidential candidate Nixon that Drew was preparing to blast him. A Nixon aide phoned me and warned that Nixon would retaliate with a McCarthy-style attack on Drew. I relayed the message to the boss; I still remember his exact words.

"Okay, I'll change my story about Nixon," he said. "I'll make it stronger."

Nothing distresses Drew more than attacks on his veracity. He is the first to admit that he makes mistakes. But the best newsmen occasionally are misinformed by their sources, and the most respected papers have pulled bon-ers.

Even Time Magazine, which recently sneered at Drew's 1956 predictions, has been wrong. (Example: Time forecast the week before election that the Republicans would win the House.) Actually Drew has done better than most political prophets. One prediction that Time derided came true right after he article went to press—namely, that "Sir Anthony Eden, whose health is worse than the public realizes, will take a much less active part in the British government."

HAGERTY APOLOGIZES

No less than White House spokesman Jim Hagerty, who has often tangled with Drew in public, has apologized to him in private. Twice Jim was man enough to telephone and admit he had been wrong in denouncing Pearson stories.

Drew has probably notched up more solid scoops than any news sleuth alive. It would take pages to list them. (His most famous:
He exposed the first Red spy ring in Washington, got hold of the income-tax returns of several big-time racketeers before the Ketauwer Crime hearings, wrote the stories that led to the congressional tax and RFC probes.)

The wire services commonly play up Pearson stories that backfire, but never mention his news beats. Another example of discrimination: The New York Times won the Pulitzer prize for revealing what happened at the secret Wake Island conference between President Truman and General MacArthur. Drew got nothing for printing exactly the same story, including verbatim quotes, six months ahead of the Times.

COSTLY CRUSADES

Right or wrong, Drew battles for what he believes is the public good. He waged a bitter battle against the natural gas bill, for example, because it would have boosted the oil and gas millionaires' profits at the housewives' expense. What he never mentioned, however, is that his crusading hurt his own pocketbook. He happens to own gas-oil wells in Louisiana. His wife's family have also owned wells for years.

While Drew fought for higher taxes on the big brackets, he was probably the most heavily taxed reporter in the United States. Another thing few people know is how he paid the expenses of the French Mercier Train delegation when they came here to give thanks for the Friendship Train.
It cost Drew $10,000 out of his own pocket.

Drew's happiest moments are when he is promoting people-to-people friendship, fighting for the independence of a little nation like Indonesia or offering a plan for world peace. He believes literally in making democracy live.

The average person is under 12 tons of atmospheric pressure. No wonder everyone is so tired.

Bronx Shoppers Scurry for Cover During Gun Battle by Cops, Gunman

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of Christmas shoppers in the Bronx scurried for cover Wednesday night during a running gun battle between police and an ex-convict gunman.

The ex-convict and a cab driver were wounded. More than two dozen shots were fired. One bystander was grazed by a bullet.

The shooting spree began when the gunman and three accomplices tried to stick up the taxi driver, David Suro, 49. Suro got quick attention from two radio patrolmen when he rammed their patrol car. Suro was shot twice by the gunman.

The gunman fled the cab with two policemen in pursuit. They exchanged shots in a two-block chase in the crowded shopping area of Tremont and Webster Avenues.

Police felled the bandit with five hits. He was identified as Leroy (Frisco) Keith, 42, on parole from an Ohio killing conviction and wanted in Ohio in connection with two other killings.

His three accomplices, a man and two women, fled the scene in the opposite direction. Police captured James T. Morris, 22, of Riverhead, N. Y., cowering under a parked car.

Police later picked up the two women, night club singer Dorothy Chaney, 23, and dancer Elizabeth Ward, 18, both residents of Harlem.

FOOD ideas FOR HOLIDAY HOSPITALITY

Give a Delicious-Dessert Party

Feed Spice Cake—Bet you're the first hostess in town to "ice" your spice cake with fluffy-whipped cream cheese! Tastes as bright as Coca-Cola. Frothed with cream and powdered sugar, the cheese goes into a help-yourself bowl. Surround with man-sized squares of spice cake and m-m-m!—that calls for Coke!

Angel Ball Cake—Make and bake it all in the same bowl! Prepare package of angel-cake mix according to directions, bake in 4-qt. oven-proof bowl, cool as usual. Now for instant frosting, a sprinkle of toasted coconut. Just for fun—top with a glittering tree ornament. For fun and flavor—treat all hands to ice-cold Coca-Cola. Its great taste goes just great with cake!

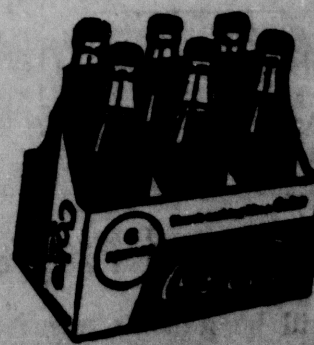

Sundae Pie—Put it together with a spoon. Coconut makes the no-mix crust... with chocolate sauce atop the ice-cream filling, and a bottle of sparkling Coke on the side. Just coat your pie pan with softened butter and coconut. Brown in a slow oven and cool. Mound in the ice-cream right before serving and remind guests to help themselves to great-tasting Coca-Cola!

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark.

BARGAIN
Vs.
VALUE!

WHAT IS A BARGAIN? There is a great deal of difference between a Bargain and Value. Usually a bargain is something nobody has wanted... until a special price has been put on it.

NOW VALUE... is something else. Value is a fine quality product with a guaranteed backing at a reasonable price, like the good honest buys we have in Safe Buy Used Cars.

Scotland Yard Formally Charges Bachelor Physician with Killing Patient

EASTBOURNE, England (U)—Dr. J. Bodkin Adams, 57, a pudgy, pink-faced bachelor physician, was formally charged today with the murder of an 81-year-old woman patient in the "case of the 20 wealthy widows."

The courtroom, spectators jamming every corner, let out an audible sigh when Bert Hannam, Scotland Yard's ace criminal investigator, told of the conversation that ended his months of plodding investigation and the arrest Wednesday of Dr. Adams.

"Can you prove it was murder?" he said the doctor asked him. "I did not think you could prove murder, she was dying in any event." And he quoted Adams as asking later, "Will there be any more charges of murder?"

Trial was set for Jan. 14 and Britain was setting back for the most sensational case since a strange little man named John Christie hacked his neighbors to death several years ago and sealed them up in a wall of his dingy house on London's Nottingham Hill Road.

Started With Gossip

The bowler-hatted Hannam, chief criminal inspector for Scotland Yard, nosed about this seaside resort for many months to check wild rumors of foul play in the deaths of 20 or more wealthy widows who changed their wills shortly before they died of "cerebral thrombosis." Some of them were cremated.

The woman Adams is accused of murdering was one of those. She was Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, who died in 1950, an active gardener at the age of 81.

Police were preparing to exhume the bodies of two other elderly women, presumably in an attempt to get further evidence.

The story began with good-natured gossip — "banter, you might call it," said the town mayor, Alderman Sidney Caffyn.

It ended with vicious rumors and a list of 400 persons who died over a period of 20 years in strangely similar circumstances.

Cat and Mouse

Scotland Yard was called in. Hannam began a methodical approach to the case, questioning residents of the town, seeking out relatives of the deceased, always searching. Often he passed Dr. Adams on the street but the doctor gave no sign he knew what the detective was seeking.

Nearly everyone in this quiet and dignified resort town 60 miles from London knew that Hannam was tracking down one of the town's most prominent residents. Dr. Adams' picture appeared in nearly every British newspaper along with stories of Eastbourne and the wealthy widows.

The gossip grew to such proportions that in September Dr. Adams' lawyer issued a statement saying: "Dr. Adams has not been accused of any crime. His practice built up by 30 years of hard work, is in danger of ruin by irresponsible gossip, and equally irresponsible press sensationalism."

Nixon Visits Refugee Camp Near Frontier

VIENNA (U)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon journeyed today with a massive security escort to a camp for Hungarian refugees only 11 miles from the Communist frontier.

The trip from Vienna to Neusiedl, where the thousands fled to freedom from the Red terror in Hungary last month, took Nixon and his entourage slightly more than an hour.

Neusiedl was Nixon's first stop on a tour of Austrian refugee camps that may lead to a new U. S. open door policy on refugees.

He was shown a map of the border area on which were marked the escape routes used by the refugees from communism.

Nixon shook hands with local district officials at Neusiedl, who welcomed him to the border town.

The vice president carried to Austria a message from President Eisenhower to Chancellor Julius Raab praising Austria for opening its borders to the heavy inflow of refugees.

The message also contained a promise from the President that he will do everything possible to help the refugees.

Informed sources said his inspection visit may affect not only the 144,285 Hungarians who fled to Austria but a forgotten legion of many thousands more who fled Communism even before start of the Hungarian revolt.

Selective Service Sends Greetings

WASHINGTON (U)—Several aging and dismayed Washington newsmen got greetings from Selective Service this week. They received notes from Selective Service headquarters which read: "The members of my staff join with the members of your staff in wishing you Christmas greetings and best wishes for the New Year. Sincerely, Lewis B. Hershey, director."

Broad Area of Agreement in Ike-Nehru Talks

Joint Communique Issued as Indian Leader Leaves

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India said today their "full and frank talks" confirmed a "broad area of agreement" about world problems.

In a joint communique issued by the White House as Nehru left for New York at the end of his four day state visit here, the two leaders predicted that their meeting of minds will speed achievement of "peaceful and friendly relations among all nations of the world."

He and Mr. Eisenhower conferred for some 14 hours Monday in the seclusion of the President's farm at Gettysburg, Pa. They talked again at the White House Wednesday and a formal dinner at the Indian embassy Wednesday night.

Nehru told newsmen who saw him off at Washington National Airport that he is confident his talks with Mr. Eisenhower will lead to "closer bonds of the mind, bonds of understanding and of friendship" between the world's two largest democracies.

The 150-word communique was couched in generalities and did not purport to give details of the Eisenhower-Nehru talks.

It was known, however, that the discussions ranged over East-West relations, Far Eastern policies, including the sticky issue of Red China, the Middle East, disarmament, and other crucial world issues.

A crowd of about 50 persons and an armed guard were at the Airport for Nehru's departure in the presidential airplane, the Columbine III.

DeNeal Urges Farmers to Take Radiological Course

Guy DeNeal of Rudement yesterday told the gathering at the annual Farm Bureau meeting at Harrisburg Junior high school that another Southern Illinois University course in radiological detection may be offered after the holidays and urged farmers to take it.

He said the course will be open to anybody who is 21 or over or who is a high school graduate, that the tuition fee is $9 except for Illinois War veterans and that it is free to them.

He said that if a target area in his region were bombed people here could die from radioactive fallout.

"You cannot see it or smell it," he stated.

He said there are six steps for survival, that they would be explained in the course.

"Farmers have more at stake than the people in towns," Mr. DeNeal stated. "They have their livestock to consider while most people in town could evacuate if necessary."

Order Autopsy In Death of Royalton Man

ROYALTON, Ill. (U)—An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of death of Elvis Talley, 63, Royalton, who was found dead in bed Wednesday morning after he was involved in a tavern altercation.

Sheriff Paul Collins quoted Arthur Horton, 65, Royalton, as saying he struck Talley with his fist after Talley allegedly cursed him. Authorities said Talley fell and may have struck his head on a stove. Sheriff Collins said police took Talley home and said Talley told them he did not need a doctor's attention.

Horton has not been charged, pending outcome of the autopsy and an inquest Thursday night.

Youth Receives VFW Award

CICERO, Ill. (U)—Lynwood Weaver, 14, Cicero, was presented the National Veterans of Foreign Wars citizenship award today for saving the life of another youngster by pulling him from a turbulent river.

Weaver was visiting relatives in Jasper Ark., when the incident occurred. While playing with a group of boys near the banks of the Little Buffalo River, he heard a cry for help from one of the members of the group.

The boy plunged into the river, pulled the youth to safety and gave him first aid.

Presentation of the award was made by state V. F. W. Commander John Englander. Weaver is a high school freshman and a star rank Boy Scout.

Four Hurt When Scaffold Breaks

MOUNT VERNON, Ind. (U)—Four construction workers were hospitalized Wednesday when a scaffold broke and they plunged 20 feet at the Indiana Farm Bureau cooperative refinery, here.

Injured were William Sage, 39, and Paul Atkinson, 36, of Kansas City, Mo., Luther Cross, 39, and Albert Curry, 35, of Mount Vernon. They were taken to Deaconess Hospital at Evansville where all four were reported in good condition.

The men were employed by the Refractory Construction Co. of Kansas City. They were spraying insulation on the inside of a crude oil heater when the scaffold support broke.

Lie Test Shows Alcoholic Dreamed Up Story of Part in Horror Slaying

CHICAGO (U)—A lie test showed today that an alcoholic machinist dreamed up his story of taking part in the horror slaying of three Chicago schoolboys.

Police said the lie detector showed Erwin Staab, 32, was telling the truth when he repudiated his "confession" that he witnessed the triple murder 14 months ago.

Staab, winding up a three-day drunk, staggered into a police station early Wednesday with his story of watching two companions, strip and beat John Schuessler, 13, his brother, Anton, 11, and Robert Peterson, 13, on Oct. 16, 1955.

He stuck to his story through hours of questioning. Then, after a four-hour nap, he denied the "confession."

The stocky machinist was charged with disorderly conduct after the lie test and was then turned over to a psychiatrist for examination.

Staab dictated a three-page question and answer statement to authorities during hours of questioning. Police, who have run into a blank wall after months of investigation, called the confession "as hot as anything we've had in this case."

On Verge of Collapse

Authorities then gave Staab a tranquilizing drug and when he awoke four hours later, he recanted the statement and explained "I just talk that way when I'm drunk."

"We are going to let him rest as long as he wishes, with the hope that he can tell a clear story" later today, Morris said.

Dr. Eugene Carey, police surgeon, described the suspect as "on the verge of complete collapse from exhaustion."

In his statement, Staab told how he watched his two companions beat the boys to death, then strip off their clothing and stack their nude bodies in a forest preserve ditch.

Staab, who has a record of mental illness and acute alcoholism, said he knew his alleged companions only as "Roberts" and "Kennedy."

The suspect said he met the two in a bar and they offered him a ride home. En route, the two picked up the three boys. He said two of the boys entered the car willingly but the third declined the ride and was dragged in.

Tells Story to Mother

Staab said he blacked out several times during the ride, but recalled seeing the men beat the boys and rip off their clothing.

Later, Staab said, he woke up and saw the men throw the bodies of the boys into Robertson's Woods on the city's outskirts. The killers then returned to an apartment house where they burned the boys' clothing in a furnace, Staab said.

He said he left the two, had a few nightcap drinks and went home to bed.

Staab said the murder preyed on his mind for more than a year. His mother, Margaret, 73, confirmed her son began drinking heavily again after the murders and seemed to have something bothering his conscience.

Staab said he finally broke down and told his mother the story and she told him, "My God, go tell the police right now."

3-City Delegation Returns from Trip to Capital

CENTRALIA, Ill. (U)—A delegation representing Centralia, Mount Vernon and Salem seeking location of a 12-million-dollar federal prison in their area has returned from Washington.

Judge James Wham of Centralia says Federal Bureau of Prisons officials were impressed by the joint application of the three cities which proposed that the prison be built east of Centralia. It would be about equal distance from the three cities.

The Bureau of Prisons expects to announce the location of the prison next year. It has received some 200 applications from Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Meritor to Install Meters Around Square

MARION, Ill. (U)—Parking meters will ring the Williamson County Courthouse after settlement of a 15-year dispute between the city and county.

Under the agreement, the city will install the meters on county property. After the meters are paid for, the city and county will share equally in the receipts.

He Asked For It By Flashing $1,000 Bills in Gin Mill

NEW YORK (U)—When you walk around with $80,000 in a paper bag and flash $1,000 bills in a gin mill you're asking for it.

Jaimie Bermudez, 40, said he was on his way to buy a grocery Wednesday with the $30,000 in cash clutched in a grocer's best friend—a paper bag.

He stopped in a saloon for a drink and said he flashed a couple of $1,000 bills to show that as butter and egg men go, he was loaded.

He hoisted one of them and then started to close his grocery deal. But before he had gone very far, two men waylaid him and in a scuffle grabbed the sack and ran.

Bermudez came by the $30,000 from the sale of another grocery he had previously owned in the Bronx, he told detectives. He also said he owned real estate in Puerto Rico.

Eisenhowers to Spend Christmas In White House

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower have decided to celebrate Christmas in the White House again this year in probably an old-fashioned family style.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty gave out no details in announcing that the first family will spend Christmas in the executive mansion. But it is more than likely the Eisenhower children and grandchildren will be on hand as they were last year.

The White House already is decorated with poinsettias, mistletoe, greenery and Christmas trees including a giant silver-trimmed tree flanked by a manger scene in the east ballroom.

Illinois Railroads Ask Rate Increase

SPRINGFIELD (U)—All railroads operating in Illinois today filed a petition with the Illinois Commerce Commission asking a 7 per cent general increase in intrastate freight rates.

The requested increase was to match a similar boost recently allowed on interstate freight by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Day of the Outlaw

Dan returned to the store and stood by the window watching the saloon.

He suddenly straightened when he saw Juarez and Egan come in to his vision and cross the street. Dan wondered where Pace had gone but something in the attitude of the two bandits held his attention. Juarez waited on the walk while Egan hurried to the saloon door, opened it and stuck his head inside. In a moment Starrett came out.

Dan watched the three talk, Juarez grinning and making a motion toward the street that led to the Gorton shack. With a sinking feeling, Dan realized that they had discovered Hal's hangout. Starrett laughed and clapped Juarez on the back.

Dan hurried down the steps and along the path of beaten snow to the corner.

He was almost to the Frazin house and now he could see the high fence of the lumber yard. He stopped short when he saw a slender figure hurry along it, from the direction of the office. Pace Od-lum was on a trail of his own.

Dan stood immobile. He stared in horror at the house where he knew beyond doubt Paula was. He could no longer see Pace, but he could picture the man knocking on the door, Paula innocently opening it. Dan's glance cut to Juarez and Egan, still standing close together and looking toward the Gorton shack. Dan's panic and uncertainty mounted. He could not be two places at once and either choice would bring him face to face with killers.

He swung sharply left, cutting behind the smithy, beating his way through drifted snow toward the lumber yard fence. Hal Crane had a slim chance of evading Juarez and Egan, but Paula would have none against the unpredictable killer with the angelic smile.

Dan half expected to hear glass break and the roar of a shot as he raced along the path to the back door.

But he could hear voices. Paula's raised in anger. Then Pace answered, voice so low that Dan could not make out the words. He eased the door closed behind him and looked desperately around for some sort of weapon and his eyes fell on the woodbox beside the range. He walked tiptoe across the room and slowly, carefully eased a long heavy piece of wood out of the box. He grimly turned to the door leading into the dining room.

Now he could hear voices more plainly and there was a lifting note of fear in Paula's tones.

Suddenly Pace cursed. Paula screamed and a chair crashed over. Dan threw caution away, lunged through the door and into the parlor.

Paula had avoided the man's first rush and had placed the table between herself and Pace.

As Dan rushed into the room, Pace wheeled and crouched, hand slashing down to his holster. Dan knew he could never beat that blurring gun and he threw the billet of wood, its jagged form hurtling directly at the handsome face.

Pace had only a glimpse of the projectile. He ducked and threw up his arm in an instinctive gesture. It missed his head by a whisper and crashed against the far wall. Paula screamed again. Pace had been delayed just long enough for Dan to reach him.

Dan grimly bore in as Pace tried to bring the gun into play again. Dan's fingers grabbed his wrist. He discovered then that Pace might be slender but his muscles were whipcord and spring steel. The red lips peeled back in blazing anger and Pace whipped about, slamming a fist into Dan's stomach and also trying to free his wrist from Dan's grip.

He nearly succeeded, the blow making Dan gasp for breath. But he hung grimly on and used his greater size to bear the lighter man back. They hit a chair and both went down in a thrashing tangle of arms and legs. Pace twisted like a cat even as he fell and Dan's grip slipped from the gun wrist. He grabbed frantically, missed, but his hand knocked the gun aside as it exploded again. Then he had the slender wrist in his hand and his arm and shoulder muscles bunched as his fingers tightened and twisted.

Pace's arm slowly moved back and to one side, Dan exerting a steady, savage pressure that made the boyish face writhe with pain.

Suddenly Pace arched, steel-spring muscles forcing Dan's heavier weight up. With a sudden twist Pace threw Dan to one side, though Dan still held grimly on to the little killer. Now Pace was above him and the pale eyes had a wild glare, like that of a cougar.

Dan had a glimpse of Paula just over the outlaw's shoulder, caught the blurring sweep of her arms. The billet of wood crashed against the back of Pace's head and the man went limp, the gun dropping from his nerveless fingers.

Dan hastily threw him aside, grabbed the weapon and came to his feet. Pace didn't move, lying with arms outflung, eyes closed. Paula dropped the wood and swayed.

"I . . . I killed him?"

Dan glanced at the fallen outlaw. "No, just knocked out. Too bad you didn't. It would save the cost of a trial and a hangman later on."

Mount Vernon Mayor Repeats Offer to Resign

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—Mayor O. R. Buford says he will repeat his offer to resign tonight at a special meeting if the four city councilmen will resign with him.

Buford first made the offer at Monday night's meeting, but his offer was turned down. He suggested that each council member name his own successor.

Councilmen called the mayor's offer "ridiculous." They said they didn't think they could name their own successors and added that a special election would be costly. The next regular election will be held in April.

Buford said he made his offer "to save the city manager form of government" which he campaigned for.

"The sum and substance of our trouble is that we have a clash of personalities," said the mayor.

"We have too many chiefs and not enough Indians," the mayor added.

The mayor said he will discuss 13 items—most of them dealing with attacks on councilmen and the administration during the last 3 1/2 years.

He said his choice for mayor would be Joe Dull, who Buford describes as "the man I barely beat for mayor."

Santa to Deliver Variety of Gifts To Homes of Television Stars

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — Santa Claus, making ready for his annual spectacular, will deliver anything from a life-sized stuffed lion to a $3,500 playhouse at the homes of TV stars this Christmas.

The lion goes to NBC-TV's Dave Garroway's young daughter, Paris. Two stuffed lion cubs will be thrown in to complete the family. Last Christmas, Dave gave Paris a life-sized stuffed tiger.

Gale Storm of CBS-TV's "Oh Sussanah," with five youngsters in the house, has solved her gift problem with the luxury playhouse. It's quite a number—35 by 40 feet. It'll be built into the mountain behind Gale's, Encino, Calif., home.

For George Gobel's 5-year-old, Georgia, the present will be a set of miniature golf clubs. Bert Parks is getting his 10-year-old twin boys, Joel and Jeff, toy typewriters and toy guns.

Art Linkletter, who owns a large brood, is lining up his list this way: Diane, 8—a child's bride set; Sharon, 10—a real telephone; Robert, 12—a chrome acrobatic bar; Dawn, 17—a trip to New York; and Jack, 19—a trip to Europe.

Lawrence Welk is filling his stockings this way: For Shirley, 23, a volume of philosophy; for Donna, 19, a round trip to California from Marquette University where she's enrolled; for Lawrence Jr., 16, a new suit and top coat; and for his wife, Fern, a set of garden furniture.

Ann Sothern of "Private Secretary" has bought her 11-year-old daughter Tish, a tape recorder, plus nosebags for her two Palominos.

Children's Letters to Santa Claus Contain Pathetic, Humorous Requests

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — A tiny tot called Timmy wrote to Santa and said all he wanted for Christmas was some check whisks and a "geetar" so he could look like Elvis Presley.

The lad added a postscript: "My mommy told me I ought to know better."

That letter wound up like a great many others in the dead letter office, no discredit to Timmy. It happens all the time.

Most of the memos addressed to the man with the white underchin stubble and the fat round belly get the same treatment.

The dead letter office gets letters to Mr. C. in large bundles every day, most of them addressed to the North Pole, where we have hardly any postoffices.

Letters Pathetic, Humorous

Incidentally, the wiggle of the Presley isn't packing the wallop you'd expect among the very young.

the milk of human kindness when she asked:

"Santa, please leave me be. But my mommy wants a big, big, kuukoo clock."

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

With the advent of the Christmas season, traditionally the happiest time of the year, it is unfortunate that we must have to fear a high traffic fatality toll during this period.

Last year, when Christmas fell on a Sunday, 41 persons lost their lives on Illinois highways over the holiday weekend. This needless loss of lives should and can be reduced if the driver and pedestrian more earnestly accept their responsibilities.

The driver must be on the alert for too much so-called "Christmas Cheer"—an office party or a gathering of friends. Alcohol and gasoline never mix—no matter what season of the year it is. Too many motorists are inclined to be in a big hurry to get home after such celebrations and disaster lurks around the corner for them.

A little girl named Diana wrote: "Will you please bring mama a bathrobe and some slippers and if you have time you could add me a pair of riding boots."

A girl named Pearl wants some "soup and some dishes to cook 'em in. And mommy says I need some underwear cause all of my pantsies have holes."

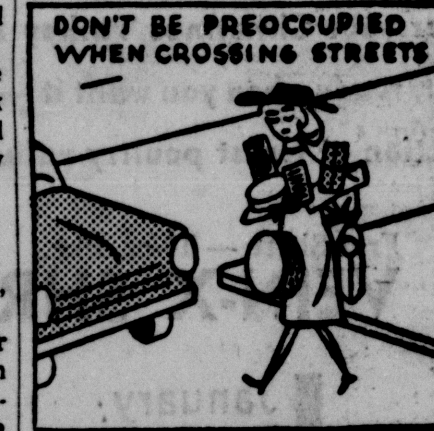

Santa gets his loot, too. A lot of letters contain cookies, some even money.

One child enclosed a dime for the relief of the refugees from Hungary, "which I have been saving up for." Another put in a dollar for "Santa's helpers, who deserve it." Neither of these two kids asked for anything for themselves.

Boy named Mike wrote four letters. All in one envelope. He saved postage, too. He didn't even put a stamp on it.

Mike's letters, in order, ordered Mr. Claus to deliver a cow, a tractor, a big car and a "great big hatch . . . ett."

Little Patty perhaps was full of Pedestrians should stay alert. A certain amount of Christmas rush seems inevitable, and preoccupation with shopping and wrapping weakens safety defenses. Pedestrians should forget about the last-minute gift which must be purchased and about that huge pile of unwrapped presents when crossing streets.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

OUTLOOK FOR 1957:

Juvenile Toll is Tragic: Hoover

By J. EDGAR HOOVER
Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Written for United Press

The juvenile delinquency problem casts a stigma upon every community where it exists. No child ever was "born to be a criminal."

But the pathway from infancy to responsible adulthood is difficult. Thousands of children stumble every day; and all too many of those who make the journey successfully do so in spite of the adult community around them.

In 1955, the toll was tragic. There were 576,000 juvenile arrests, 11 per cent more than in 1954 while the number of 10 to 17-year olds in our population increased only 3 per cent.

And the problem threatens to become more acute in the years ahead.

This sacrifice of young people is not inevitable. There is much we can do to assure that every child receives the opportunity he so richly deserves to develop into a useful citizen.

Nothing will be accomplished, however, until America recognizes delinquency in its true light—not as a mere juvenile problem but as a product of adult failure.

The responsibility for providing moral guidance rests primarily with parents. By both precept and example, it is the parents' duty to make the child's life meaningful. Due to circumstances beyond their immediate control, some parents are unable to meet this obligation.

If theirs were the only youngsters who needed help from outsiders, our delinquency problem would never have become so acute. Unfortunately, however, thousands of mothers and fathers have constructed a barrier of neglect and disinterest between themselves and their children. Herein lies the core of the problem.

When the home has failed, help must come from other sources. Instruments for prevention of delinquency are available in every community, but America still lacks the enthusiastic interest which is essential to their intelligent use.

The church offers moral guidance to young and old alike. Yet, in how many neighborhoods does God truly abide? Schools can help teach the lessons of good citizenship. But how many are crippled by inadequate staffs and budgets? Youth organizations, both public and private, can channel young energy into constructive activities. How many of these, too, lack the necessary support?

Prevention of delinquency, like prevention of other human problems, can be accomplished only through unified action and a will to do the job. Parents may have the primary responsibility for their children's misdeeds; but each adult citizen must share the stigma of neglect when waves of juvenile vandalism and crime wash across his community.

SIU Defeats North Dakota Five, 91 to 68

By United Press
Two Illinois colleges downed out-of-state foes Wednesday night as Eastern Illinois rallied to edge Indiana State, 64-60, and Southern Illinois whipped North Dakota, 91-68.

Eastern was behind Indiana State throughout most of the game, but pulled ahead in the closing minutes behind the shooting of John Millholland, who tallied 20 points. Jim Bates of Indiana State also scored 20 points.

Southern Illinois, sparked by Larry Whitlock's 33 points, led all the way in trouncing North Dakota. SIU hit a sizzling 53 per cent of its shots and held a 47-36 half-time margin.

In another game, Great Lakes extended its win streak to six straight by topping Illinois Wesleyan, 74-52. Superior height aided the winners in the game played at the Navy base. Dick Metzger of Wesleyan garnered scoring honors, however, with 17 points.

U. S. Players Angry at Snub By Australians

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — United States Davis Cup players are incensed today over an Australian snub but even their best friend "Down Under" says it won't do 'em any good.

The bad feeling developed when Australia violated an unwritten rule by not inviting the U. S. players to remain there for the national championships at Melbourne next month. The Aussies wouldn't have been more blunt if they said, "go home, Yanks, you're so bad nobody wants to see you play."

Billy Talbert, non-playing captain of the U. S. "unwashed," protested vehemently because he wants youngsters Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., and Myron Franks of Santa Monica, Calif., to gain added experience in the nationals and a meeting was scheduled to settle the dispute later this week.

Some experts thought the snub might inspire the U. S. players to "show up" the Australians by beating them in the challenge round, Dec. 26-27-28 but Denny Pails, who qualifies as the Yanks' best friend "Down Under," says that "would take a tennis miracle."

"I'm not going to say this is the worst U. S. Davis Cup team ever to visit Australia, but on paper it figures to lose in five straight matches," said the former Aussie net ace who has helped coach the last five U. S. teams.

"None of the American players measures up to Lew Hoad or Ken Rosewall."

Pails, who Talbert says "is an invaluable aid to us," did give Vic Seixas, the 33-year-old star of the U. S. team, "a chance to beat Hoad under certain conditions" but he added, "don't count on it."

Three Killed, Two Wounded In Killing Spree

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP) — Three persons were killed and two others wounded Wednesday in a crazed killing spree by a 40-year-old bachelor who "hated everybody."

Merlin McNaughton of Ray, a small community near Angola, surrendered meekly to police following his shooting rampage. A 4-year-old girl he had taken hostage was freed unharmed.

Authorities at first believed McNaughton had ended his rampage after fatally shooting one neighbor and wounding the parents of the girl he had kidnapped.

But late Wednesday, hours after McNaughton had been captured and placed in custody, officers found the bodies of a father and FIGHTERS LOSE HEADS—The gloves seemed to replace the heads of Joey Giambra, left, and Rocky Castellani in the 10th and final round of a close battle in San Francisco. Giambra kept his head, however, to win a unanimous decision. He wants shot at Joey Giardello.

Three Giants Players On Defensive Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Overall, the New York Giants didn't do well during 1956 but three of their players made the National League's all-star fielding team.

The three Giants who were defensive leaders at their positions were second baseman Red Schoendienst and outfielders Jackie Brandt and Don Mueller. Schoendienst set an all-time mark for second basemen with his .993 average.

The individual field leaders: 1B Joe Adcock, Braves, .995; 2B Schoendienst, .993; 3B Willie Jones, Phillies, .973; SS Roy McMillan, Redlegs, .975; OF Brandt, .990; Mueller, .989 and Bill Virdon, Pirates, .988; C Del Crandall, Braves, .996, and P Tom Poholsky, Cardinals (since traded to the Cubs), 1.000.

It marked the first time in the last six years that Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati failed to lead first basemen in fielding. His mark of .990 placed him fifth.

In the team average department, the Brooklyn Dodgers wound up with the best fielding average, .9812, edging the Cincinnati Redlegs, who fielded .9811.

Brooklyn committed the fewest errors, 111, while the Pirates made the most, 162. The Cardinals executed the most double plays, 172, and also turned in the only two triple plays made in the NL this year.

The discovery led police to make a house-to-house search of the hamlet to determine whether there were any more victims.

McNaughton, regarded by his neighbors as a harmless eccentric, was said to have such a fear of being shot himself that he wore pillows "to keep the bullets from hurting."

He once told a neighbor he "hated everybody" and said he "slept in the daytime and ran around at night watching people."

McNaughton was charged with homicide.

Kerner Gives Young Stars for Old Pros to Keep Hawks Alive

NEW YORK (NEA)—Ben Kerner believes that the Army should make him a general.

Kerner owns the St. Louis Hawks in the National Basketball Association and what with five of his choice players now in the service he feels he has definite interest in the military.

"In the meantime," he says, "I am trading away players with tremendous potential in exchange for old pros to keep me going until my kids get back."

Kerner's youngsters are Frank Selvy, Al Ferrari, Julius McCoy, Johnny Stephens and Darrell Floyd.

Without them, Ben has had to make deals which astounded basketball men. For example, he just gave the New York club Willie Naulls, the 6-6 UCLA product, in order to get Slater Martin, a veteran with plenty of mileage on him. Naulls is considered by most professional men to be a better guy to have around than Bill Russell, who now that his Olympic Games chore is finished, is joining the Boston Celtics.

Last season, Kerner dealt Dick Ricketts, the 6-7 Duquesne product with a world of promise, for Jack McMahon and Jack Coleman, veterans.

"In Ricketts and Naulls," Kerner says, "I gave away more basketball ability than most owners find in a lifetime. But what was I to do? Here I am sitting in St. Louis with a great team—all in the Army. I have Naulls, a good corner man. But I have enough corner men. And I have Bob Pettit, who is merely the best big man in the business.

"Backcourt men I don't have. So I make a switch. I get Martin, who is excellent handling the ball. For him, I give my left arm. But I had to do it or go to the bottom of the well this season.

"It was the same story with Ricketts. I was losing 16 or 19 last year and I needed help badly. McMahon figured to help. Coleman could pitch in, too. So I give up Ricketts—and wind up with a second place team which just gets beat in the Western Division playoffs.

"I'm doing all this for an apparent reason. Selvy—out of a book. Ferrari, Stephens, McCoy—all class players. I get them back in another year. So I do anything to stay alive until they come back."

Giving away top players is nothing new to Kerner. Back a few years, he drafted Bob Cousy out of Holy Cross for his club, then the Tri-Cities team. But Ben didn't want a collegian who had to develop. He wanted immediate relief in the form of Frankie Brian, an established money shooter.

So after a bit of swapping, Cousy wound up with the Chicago Stags and Brian with Kerner's team. The Stags folded and three names were dropped in a hat—Cousy, Max Zaslofsky and Andy Phillip.

The three low teams drew. Walter Brown of Boston, who was last, wound up with Cousy. He groaned.

"Auerbach (Coach Red Auerbach) told me to come back here with anybody but Cousy," Proprietor Brown groaned.

Cousy, of course, has done nothing except to establish the Celtics as one of sports' more profitable franchises. And himself as an all-time great.

Ben Kerner would readily remark that deal.

"Giving Naulls and Ricketts away can be explained intelligently," he says. "But when you tell anybody that I also got rid of Bob Cousy, then the whole thing falls into a pattern.

"I'm crazy."

Wilt Chamberlain, Little Chet Forte Top Cage Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Big Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and little Chet Forte of Columbia, chalking up points at a fantastic clip, topped the nation's major college basketball scorers today in the weekly rundown of statistics released by the NCAA Service Bureau.

Chamberlain, the seven-foot sophomore from Philadelphia, led all scorers for the second straight week with a 158 point total in four games for a 39.5 per game average. However, his per game average dropped from 45.5 a week ago, and will drop further when his 23-point performance against California Tuesday night is figured in.

Forte, the 5-9 senior who is hailed by many as the best little man in college basketball today, has scored 152 points for a runnerup 30.4 per game average. Chamberlain and Forte are the only ones above the 30-point level.

Hawkeyes Work Out After Tour Of Disneyland

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — University of Iowa's Rose Bowl football team got down to serious work today after taking an afternoon off to visit Disneyland.

Coach Forest Evashevski put his Hawkeyes through a morning and an afternoon drill. He said the squad would work out twice daily the rest of the week.

The Hawkeyes held a secret workout Wednesday morning and then joined their Rose Bowl opponents, Oregon State, for a tour of Disneyland in nearby Anaheim.

Son of Former Teacher Gets Eagle Scout Award

Edward L. Barger

Edward L. Barger, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Barger of Dayton, Ohio, received his Eagle Scout award at the Court of Honor held Sunday, Dec. 2, at 2:30 p. m. in the National Cash Register Company Auditorium in Dayton.

A crowd of nearly 2000 people was present to witness the awarding of medals and to hear the address given by the guest speaker, L. D. Cornell, scout executive of the Chicago, Ill., Council.

The theme for the 1956 L. D. Cornell Eagle class was "Service."

To become an Eagle, a boy must pass through all other ranks and he must have earned at least 21 merit badges. Edward had earned 23 and he was especially honored, since he is only 13, by being selected as one of eight boys from the Miami Valley Council to attend the National Scout Jamboree in July at Valley Forge, Penn., and also the World Jubilee Jamboree in August in London, England.

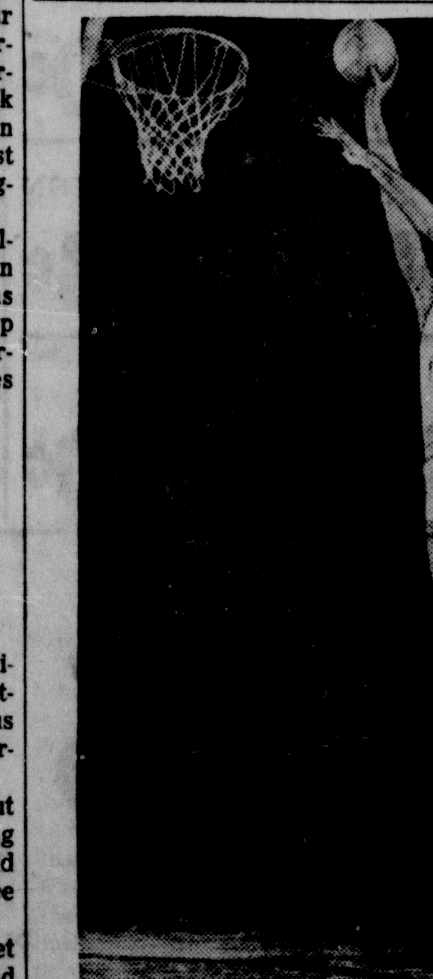

Miami Valley Council is comprised of a five county area with several thousand scouts.

On Sunday, Nov. 25, the 11 a. m. service at Forest Avenue Presbyterian church in Dayton was given over to Scout Troop No. 288 and was conducted by their leader, Judge Cecil E. Edwards.

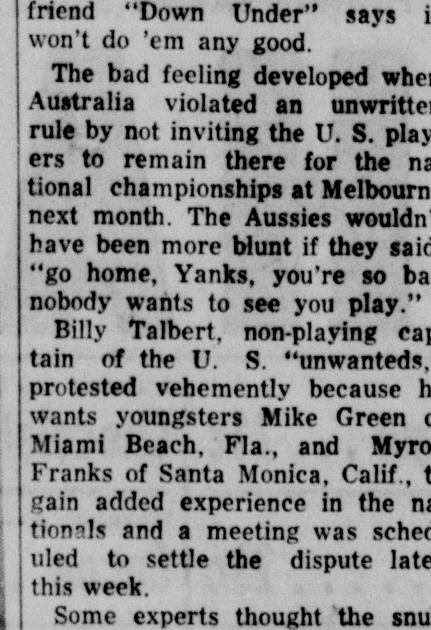

Edward's father, Loy Barger, was a teacher in Saline county for several years but has resided with his family, since 1950 in Dayton, Ohio. They formerly lived in Detroit and Flint, Michigan. Edward is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barger of Stonefort and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cox of Ridgway.

CAN'T MISS—Here's what Kansas opponents face when Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain goes up for a lay-up. The fabulous sophomore leaps, stretches his seven-foot frame, then dunks the ball through. The Philadelphia high school product is deadly accurate on pivot and outside shots.

Rocky Castellani

Rocky Castellani, 19, of the New York Giants, was one of the three players who made the National League's all-star fielding team.

The three Giants who were defensive leaders at their positions were second baseman Red Schoendienst and outfielders Jackie Brandt and Don Mueller. Schoendienst set an all-time mark for second basemen with his .993 average.

The individual field leaders: 1B Joe Adcock, Braves, .995; 2B Schoendienst, .993; 3B Willie Jones, Phillies, .973; SS Roy McMillan, Redlegs, .975; OF Brandt, .990; Mueller, .989 and Bill Virdon, Pirates, .988; C Del Crandall, Braves, .996, and P Tom Poholsky, Cardinals (since traded to the Cubs), 1.000.

U. I. Tightens On Entrance Requirements

CHICAGO — The University of Illinois board of trustees raised entrance test requirements for applicants in the lower fourth of their high school classes in hopes of discouraging students who might fail.

Under the new testing plan, students will be given counsel and a battery of tests in the spring before their first semester at the university. If the tests indicated the student "would probably flunk," he will be encouraged to begin extra study or look elsewhere for advanced education.

Dr. David D. Henry, president of the university, said the action was not taken to bar students from the school.

"We are only trying to help them with our best advice," he said.

The trustees also acted Tuesday to enlarge the school's Chicago professional campus. An additional 16.8 acres of land from the Medical Center Commission was accepted to be added to the 21.1 acres already owned by the university.

The controversial Miller Meadow site for a four-year Chicago branch of the university also came up for consideration and the trustees indicated they now are willing to lease the land rather than purchase it.

The site belongs to the Cook County Forest Preserve District and commissioners have stated they would not sell it to the university.

The board approved a university application for a $189,500 federal grant for the study of heart disease. The five-year study would be conducted on some 2,000 Western Electric male employees.
